By switching to LED lighting for the cultivation and growth processes of maitake mushrooms and introducing a single-fluid humidification process, we reduced electricity consumption by 2.6% compared to the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025¹

Previously

After the change

Implementation Status

LED Lighting for Cultivation and Growth

- Fluorescent lamps are used as the light source during the cultivation and growth process of maitake mushrooms

- In addition to reducing electricity costs through the adoption of LED lighting, the light sources do not generate heat, thereby reducing the load on the air conditioning system

- For the cultivation process, the system has already been implemented at the Ueda Second, Shizuoka Second, Tomakomai Third, and Jojima Plants.
- For the growth process, partial implementation was completed at the Shizuoka Second plant during the fiscal year ended March 31, 2026. Implementation is scheduled for the Tomakomai Third and Jojima Plants by the fiscal year ending March 31, 2029.

Single-fluid Humidification

- In the cultivation of eryngii mushrooms and bunashimeji mushrooms, a two-fluid system (air + water) is used, with air supplied by a compressor

- By using a single fluid (water only) and operating the humidifier with a pump, we reduce electricity costs associated with the compressor

- For bunashimeji mushrooms, the system has been implemented at Ueda First and Saku First factories. For eryngii mushrooms, it has been implemented at Tomakomai Second Factory. Implementation at other factories is scheduled to be completed by the end of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2029.

Note 1: Production volume remained at nearly the same level as in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025, at 99.6% of that figure
